FROSH UNIFORMS

According to recent reports, the Frosh class is considering the matter of distinctive uniforms for the Winter and Spring quarters since they will be presented at the conclusion of this term.

It is the desire of the Frosh officers, to refrain as much as possible, from entering into class affairs. However, it is felt by many that the Frosh class should have some distinctive garb for the remainder of the year, that certain functions peculiar to that class should be brought to the Frosh's attention before an attempt is made to carry out this project of uniforms.

It is the desire of Frosh especially the men, on coming to college for the first time, purchase their clothes for the entire school year. This is the reason that purchases of uniforms would be a waste to them in this school who are not afford to put any extra money into luxuries.

This is a large percentage of Frosh who can honestly afford to pay five or ten dollars into a uniform that you do not actually need?

This factor should be considered by every Frosh who is considering the purchase of a uniform. It is the desire of Frosh that each class should receive the attention of those fostering this move for uniforms. It is the desire of Frosh that the most "disorganized" group in school be cause they do not really know each other as class members.

There are very few ties of friendship established and most of the members do not feel a "class" spirit. It is the desire of those who are eloquent enough to persuade five hundred or even three hundred Frosh to pay five dollars for a uniform that they do not need as an article of clothing?

Some theorists may argue that this very uniform will serve to unite the class, but practical experience on the part of others Frosh

EDUCATION WEEK PROCLAMATION

CALVIN COOLIDGE
President of the United States

Education is becoming well-nigh universal in America. The rapidity of its expansion within the past half century is remarkable. Our system of public instruction, administered by State and local officers, is peculiarly suited to our habits of life and to our plan of government, and it has brought forth abundant and varied educational opportunities. In some favored localities only one, two, or three persons in a thousand between the ages of 16 and 20 are classed as illiterate. High schools, vocational schools, and colleges are offering to the youth of America a greater measure of education than that which the Puritans, the Pilgrims, the Quakers, the Huguenots, William and Mary, Yale, and Princeton; and so widely diffused has advanced study become that the educational system is no more a symbol of unusual learning.

All this is reason for gratification; but in the contemplation of worthy achievement we must still be mindful that much remains to be done, made throughout the country for education either elementary, secondary, or higher grade. Large numbers have not yet received the benefit of high school training. The efficiency of the schools in rural communities is, in general, relatively low, often their equipment is meager, their buildings poorly prepared, and their terms short. High schools notwithstanding their extraordinary value, notwithstanding the high demand for instruction, even in great cities many students are restricted to half-day attendance, and in many districts such schools frequently are insufficient in number or inadequate in quality. In higher education the possibilities of existing institutions have been reached, and it is necessary that their facilities be extended or that junior colleges in considerable numbers be established.

These deficiencies leave no room for complacency. The utmost endeavor must be exerted to provide for every child in the land the full measure of education which his intelligence and his capacity demand, and none must be permitted to live in ignorance. Marked benefit has already come from Nation-wide campaigns for strengthening the public schools, for universal education, for upholding the hands of constituted school authorities, and for securing the services of the best minds of the schools. Such revivals are wholesome and should continue.

Therefore, I, Calvin Coolidge, President of the United States, do proclaim the week beginning November sixteenth, 1925, as the "American Education Week," and I urge that it be observed throughout the land. I recommend that the Governors of the several States issue proclamations setting forth the observance of the week, and that each be appropriately celebrated in their respective states. I call upon the business, labor, fraternal, and religious organizations, and citizens of every occupation contribute with their efforts to the observance of the week, and that they make of American Education Week a special season of mutual encouragement and of the promotion of the welfare upon which the welfare of the Nation depends.

Yours, etc.,
Calvin Coolidge

Eastmond Given

Recognition For

Poster Exhibits

In the July 15th issue of the "Association News," an article appeared under the heading "Poster Exhibits" concerning the credit of originating the idea of poster exhibits. The writer quoted a number of collectors, posters, while traveling in a foreign country, and various commercial art exhibitions in America, and the great interest and admiration of national artists. High schools and colleges are making an increasing use of poster art.

Eastmond has been invited to make an exhibition poster art at the Easle, Easle, Michigan high school.

"FROSTY" IS TRAINER FOR CROSS COUNTRY

Only three more weeks to wait and train for the annual cross country race, which is held on Wednesday, November 25th, to decide whether "Frosty" Richards carries away the title of "dark horse".

Some "dark horse" takes the coveted symbol of strength and speed and endurance.

"Frosty" is perhaps even now giving advice to the other aspirants in the race and anyone who wishes to can receive those instructions which will mean the difference between winning and losing.

To win, Mr. Richards will have to run the race in 25 minutes and four seconds off his record time of 25 minutes and 36 seconds for 4.2 miles.

Among the many running and some of the most famous names in the Larson and Farnham for the sophomore class. Richards for the juniors, and probably many others who are running.

The course begins at the University of Utah and goes through the city west to fifth west, down fifth west to fifth south, east to University Avenue, then down University Avenue, then west again to the race.

At the race, "Frosty" says this route is the best because it is the most level and there is almost the major part of the race.

The course being the most level, their feet so high and their energy and strength for running and making for better time.

Miss Elliot Gives
Helpful Lecture

Last Thursday in the family room of the Home Economics Club and others interested were entertained by Miss Elliot, who gave a demonstration of numerous souvenirs which she had brought.

The souvenirs were especially interesting of each country.

Among the souvenirs were miniature hats, dolls, small bags, cigar boxes, Parisian powders and shawls, typical of various countries.

Geologists Hike to Slide Canyon Sat.

Mr. Watts was guide at another geology hike taken Saturday, Oct.

The class met at the Education Building at 8:30 a.m. and the students and were taken in cars from there to the mouth of the canyon.

Those who participated in the hike report having had a very pleasant trip and the students were able to slide down the steep mountain and then slide down on the bed of moving rock fragments. —V.

President Brimhall
Gives Three Criteria

"Next to God, the scientist is our best friend," was the opening sentence of President George E. Brimhall when three things upon which he based his three criteria for what makes a good student were mentioned.

He said that the first that was scientists are always believers in God.

In his second criterion, Brimhall gave three things upon which he based his second criteria. First, he must be a cold whom one could be grateful to; second, he must be a good student; third, he must be a good man.

He said that the first that was scientists are always believers in God.

In his second criterion, Brimhall
